

FEATURES OF WINDOWS DEFENDER ATP

- Attack surface reduction: It ensures the first level of defense by ensuring the configuration settings and threat mitigation techniques and response are proper in place resist attacks and exploitation of the organisation in future.
- Next generation protection: Windows Defender ATP uses next generation protection designed to catch all types of emerging threats for further reinforcing security perimeter.
- Endpoint detection and response: It detects, investigate, and respond to advanced threats and exploit which may have made past in the other security checks.
- Automated investigation and mitigation: In addition to quickly respond to advanced attacks, Windows Defender ATP also offers automatic investigation and remediation capabilities that help in reducing the volume of alerts.
- Secure Score: Windows Defender ATP includes a secure score to dynamically assess the security state of the enterprise network, identify unprotected systems, and take recommended actions to improve the overall security of the organization.
- Advanced Hunting: This feature helps in the creation of custom threat intelligence and use a powerful search and query tool to hunt for possible threats in the organization.
- Management and API: Windows Defender ATP has the feature to integrate with the workflows and API for higher quality of threat detection and protection.

Some of the detailed features of the Windows Defender ATP are:

Advanced Hunting

With the usage of powerful search tools and query tools Advanced Hunting makes it possible to hunt threats across the whole organisation. To create custom detection rules based on the queries created and surface alerts in Windows Defender Security Center.